Growth and development have marked the progress we have made in our years at Chatham High School. We have learned to accept increasingly our personal responsibilities in planning from day to day and for the future. We have learned to work in harmony with others and to accept disappointments as well as triumphs.

Our ability to accept responsibility has been increased as we have learned to meet the challenges of assignments, deadlines, and independent research. Participation in service projects, club activities, school government, and musical productions has broadened our interests and led to experience in working closely with others, both students and teachers. Teamwork has been evident on the playing field as well, where our defeats have taught us as much as our victories have delighted us.

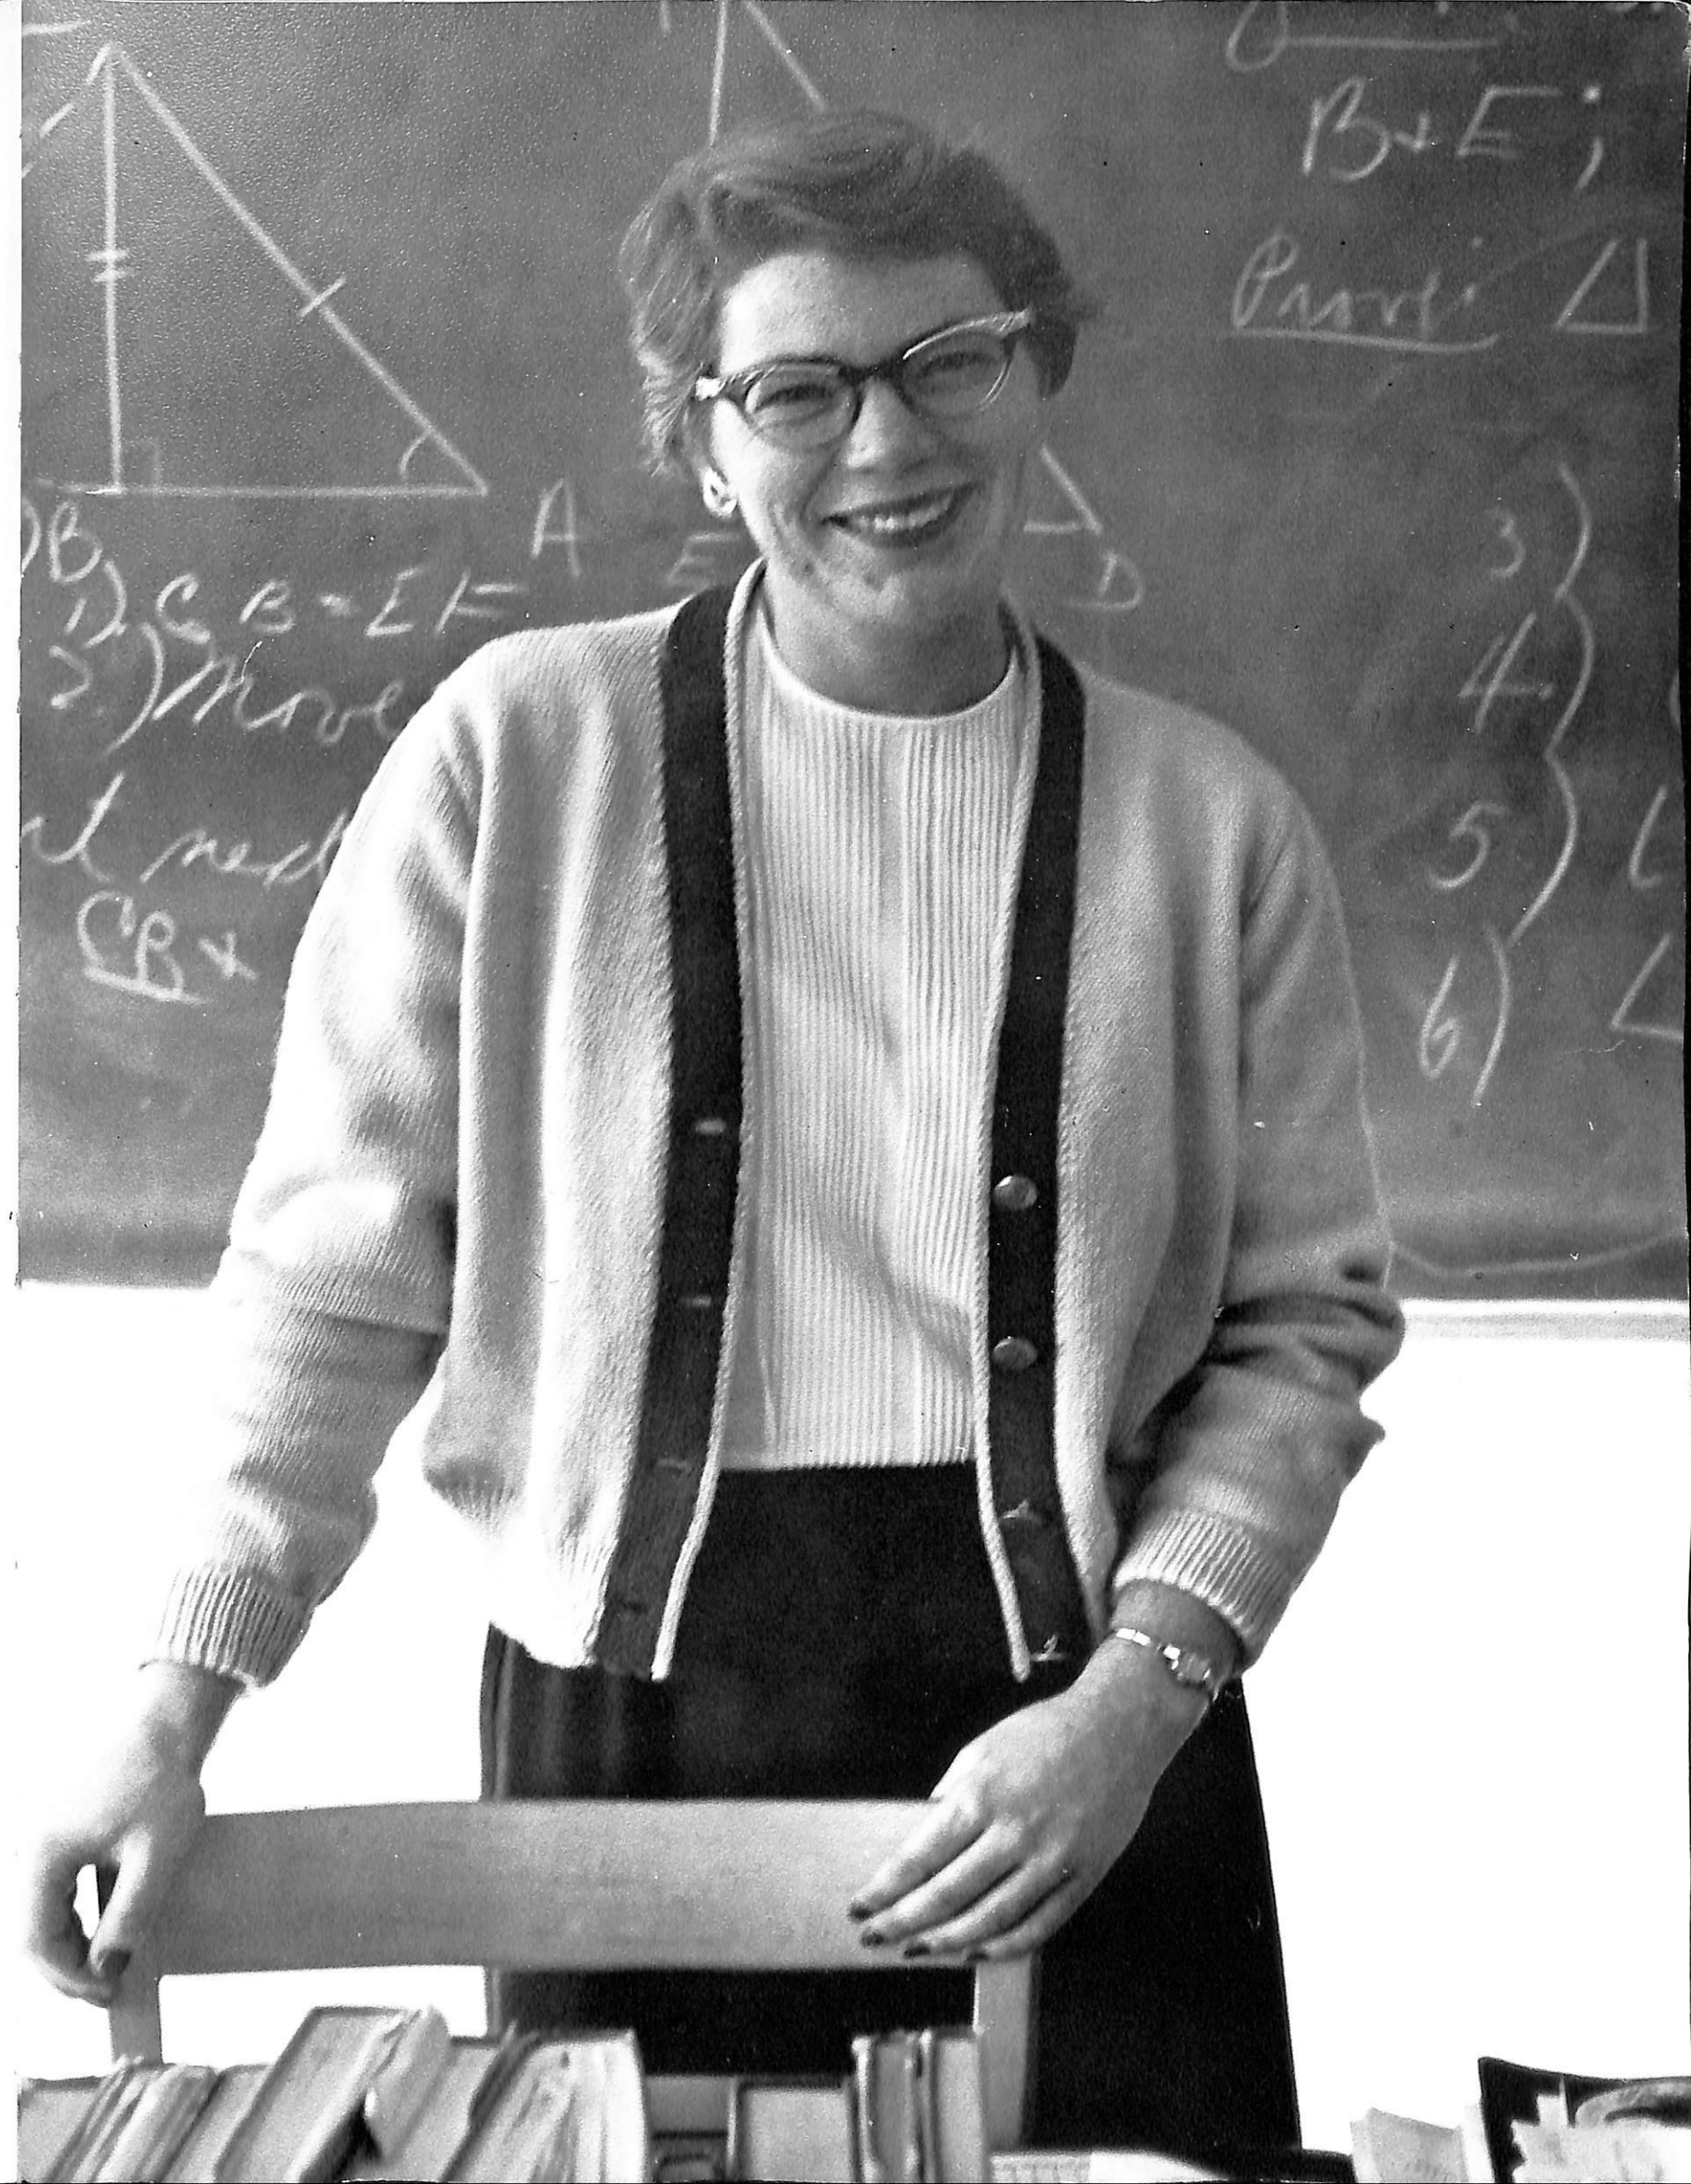

This progress brings us closer to realizing the many goals we have set for ourselves. In Chatham High School we have been given the foundations for creative lives. We have experienced the exhilaration of challenge. We welcome the knowledge that the process of learning never ends.

Editor-in-Chief

Because of her selflessness in generously giving time to her students,
 Because of her regard for students as individuals,
 Because of her light touch and humor which help to make learning fun,
 Because of her valued contributions as a counselor,
 Because of her patience and skill in revealing to us the wonders of the mathematical world,
 We, the Class of 1965, proudly and affectionately dedicate our yearbook to

Deb - go a real great girl. Have a lot of fun as a junior
next year
Whitney

"You're right! Five fingers!"

"... but with chocolate sauce?"

"Gee, all I said was, 'We skip this period tomorrow.'"

"Five no-trump? Are you kidding?"

"... and now my rendition of 'Get out of the wheat field, Grandma, you're going against the grain.'"

Deb,
Remember all the fun we had in Big Boy band?
and Kiss me Kate? Have a good Jr year,
Guy

"Hey, Stu—what are you doing up on that ladder?"

JUNIOR

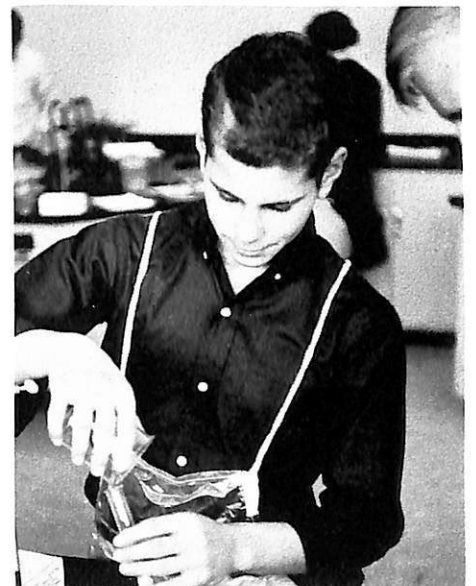

"Mammy!"

CANDIDS

"... these people ..."

"Double, bubble, toil and trouble!"

"... and you can also get rings that fit three fingers."

"I hate to hold these people up, but I can't turn 'til the light changes."

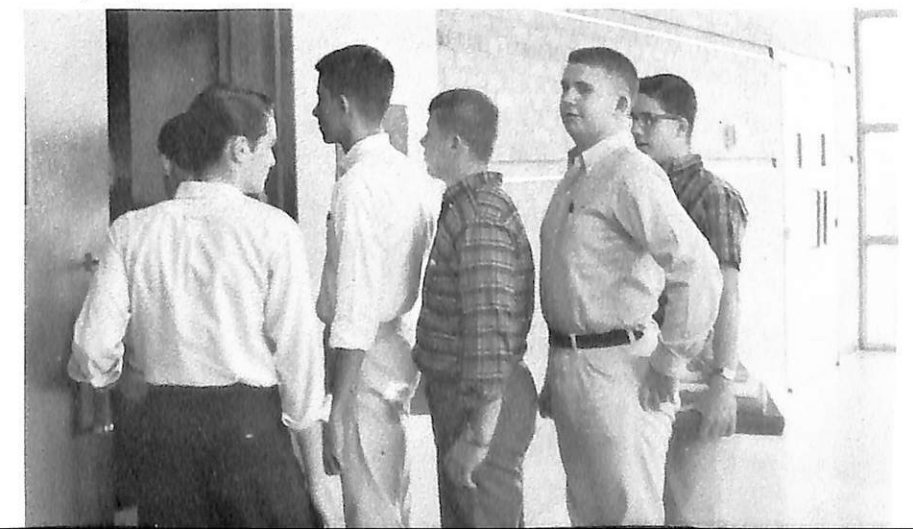

"What do you mean, Monopoly money's no good?"

"It is not empty!"

"I'm going to enlist."

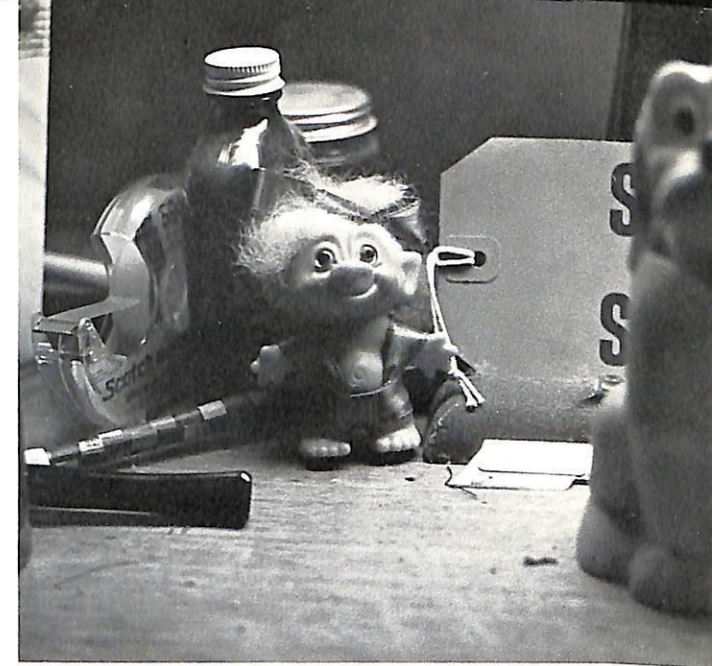

"Wait 'til they find out what we put in it!"

"This one I get by osmosis."

"Talk Spanish at a Spanish Club dinner?—Of course not!"

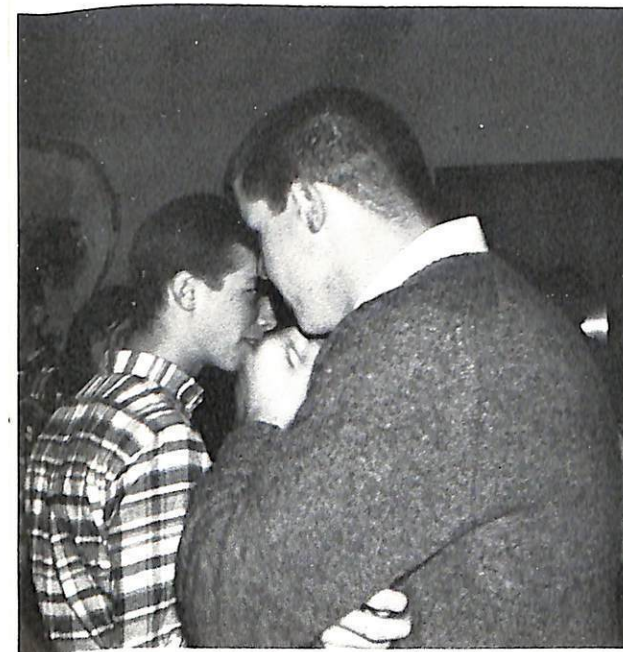

"I used to live under a bridge, but since I scared all the goats away, I'm out of work!"

"It's not really raining out."

"Which is better, a red queen or a black king?"

"Don't look now but there they are."

"Don't look now but there they are."

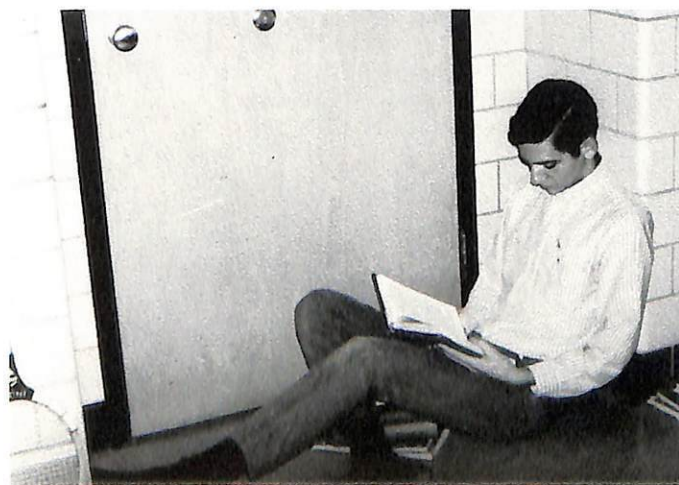

"These cafeteria lines are getting too darn long!"

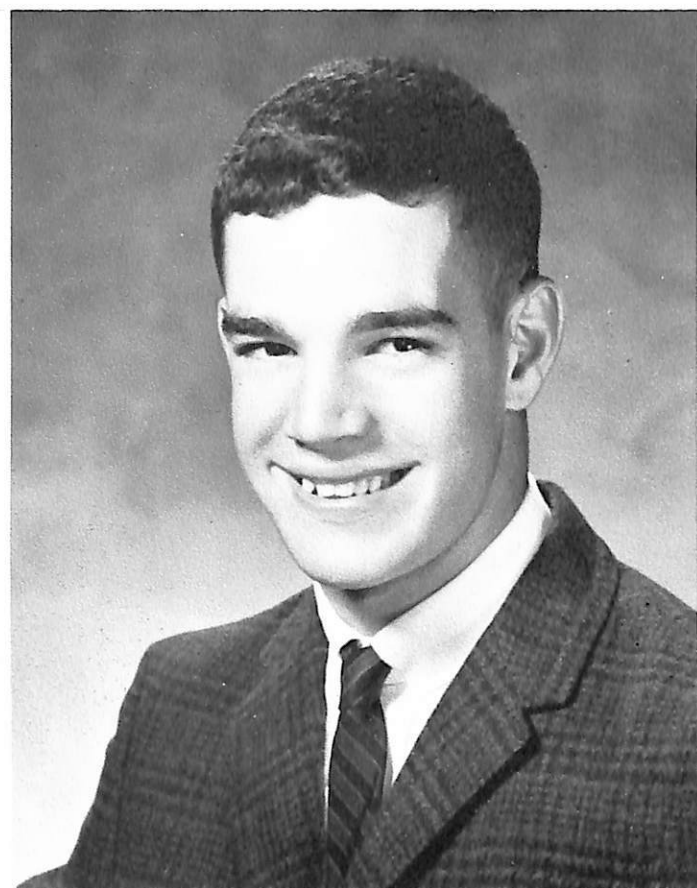

"You've really got Mr. Brown locked in there?"

"How can they expect me to study if they don't even unlock the door?"

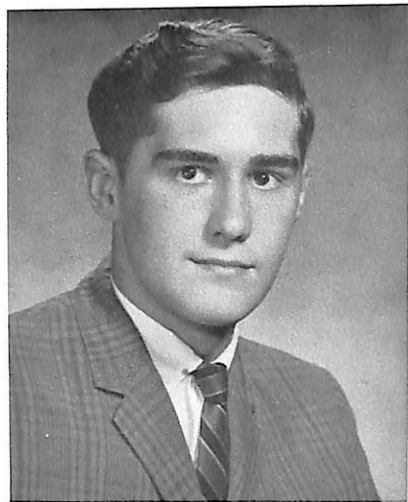

In Memory of Nick Schiro

The death of Nick has left all of us with a deep sense of loss. We all knew him as a friend—outgoing and fun-loving. We remember his beaming face as he bounded down the hall with a cheerful "Hello" for everyone. We remember his boundless vitality and zest for life: his great enthusiasm for sports—especially baseball; his love of dancing—the way he put his heart and soul into the music. Our lives are brighter for having known Nick.

We, the Class of 1965, dedicate this page to Nick Schiro with fond memories.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY 1965

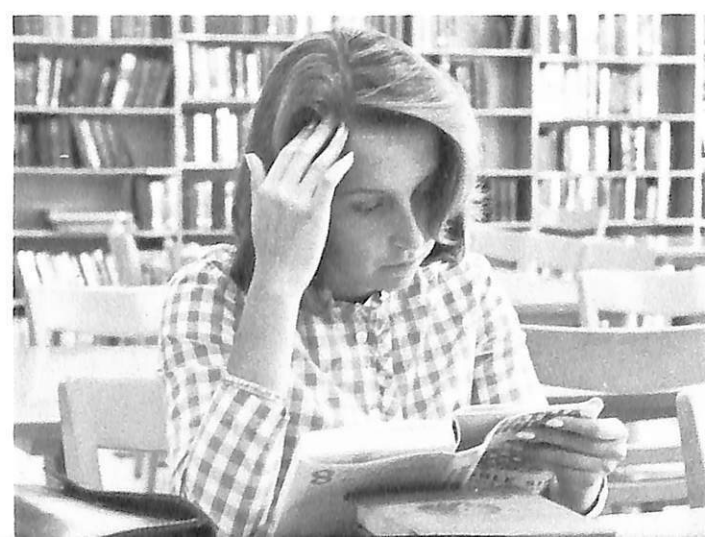

In September 1962 the largest class yet, and the last to include Township students, entered Chatham High School. Sophomore year was many things to this class. It was the joy of discovery—"You mean you can go in either door to get your lunch?" It was arduous brain-stretching—"The sum of the two legs . . . No, no . . . The sum of the squares of the . . ." The sophomores were the underdogs, the only class that could not favor, help, please, trust, believe, persuade, command, obey, serve, resist, envy, threaten, pardon, or spare anyone else in the school. But soon the catalytic action of the seniors' school spirit in such projects as the Battle of the Books and the S.A.C. sparked their enthusiasm, and it was seniors-sophomores all the way. Everyone knows that the sophomore float, A Tale of Two Cities, won the 1962 homecoming competition.

It was a year of firsts for the class of '65—their first CHS talent show, their first Christmas assembly, and their first marvelous long weekend. The year passed all too quickly. The sophomore year of the Class of '65, undoubtedly their best year in high school, ended.

Ah, to be a junior! To have the experience and smug superiority of an upperclassman without the responsibility of making senior decisions. 1963 found the members of the Class of '65 in that enviable position, with proof of their new status, their class rings. As juniors, the Class of '65 excelled. On the playing fields they were Giants in the Turf. Academically, they dominated both honor rolls. In school spirit they were indefatigable. Their homecoming float, Seven Great Tombstones, outshone the other floats for the second straight year. Their Student Council election campaign was the most spectacular and clever in the history of the high school—posters to catch the voter's eye, music and slogans to catch his ear, even pastry to fill his stomach!

However, there were constant reminders for the juniors that more important things lay ahead. College Boards and NMSQT's were taken. The new Chatter and Chatterbox staffs were chosen, officers for senior year were elected, as were National Honor Society members. The newly-elected student council president was presented his gavel, the sign of authority for the coming year.

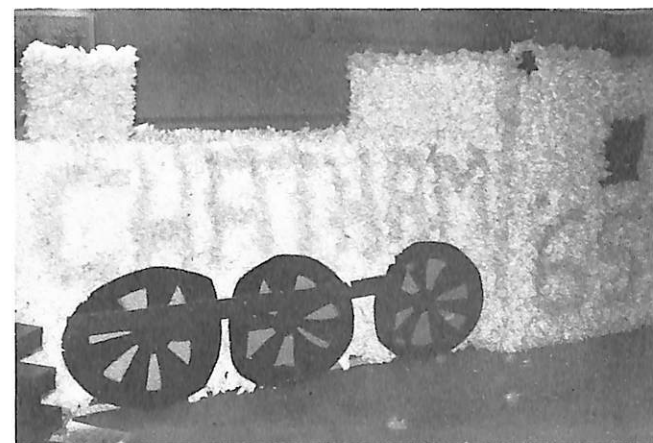

The year drew rapidly to a close. There was that hectic cleaning up after the senior prom. The lovely garland girls and stalwart graduation ushers brought to an end the activities of the junior year of the Class of '65, certainly their best year in high school.

Finally the Class of '65 became seniors, two stronger with the addition of their AFS students, Alia Minaissy, their gay and friendly girl from Egypt, and Mehmet Arisoy, the Turkish boy with the magic foot and the magic smile. They found being seniors quite expensive: senior hats, SAC's, Chatter's, class dues, split weekend tickets, and a thousand other expenses.

Not even a great deluge could dampen the spirit of '65 at homecoming. Their float, Chatham Locomotive, was on the right track for victory. The Homecoming Queen was crowned, the cheers rose, and—the lights went out! The next day the radiant Queen presided over the Eskie's triumphant victory over Summit on the field.

On the soccer field, the accomplishments of the Class of '65 were even more spectacular. The Haas-men won not only the Suburban Conference but also the State Championship. The exceptional performance of the team placed five of its members on the All-Conference team and netted Mr. Haas his 200th win.

Off the field, the ability and exuberance of this class were just as evident in a mad whirl of activities. An impressive ten of its members were National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalists; eighteen received letters of commendation. Sixteen new members joined the ranks of the National Honor Society. Sally Cloninger presented a rousing assembly about her unforgettable summer as an AFS student in the Philippines. Headaches from college applications terminated in the joys of college acceptances.

Spring 1965 brought the GAA Show, the Senior Play, the Prom, and the banquet. All too soon the long-practiced graduation exercises became a reality. Suddenly it was all over—Senior year, their best year in high school.

The 1964 football team completed the season with a solid 6-3 record. A Thanksgiving Day victory over Summit, the climax of the season, brought home the prized trophy.

This year's games had their exciting moments. Remember the Verona game when we scored the winning touchdown with only 17 seconds left to play, and the Millburn conflict when a last-second field goal decided the game against us?

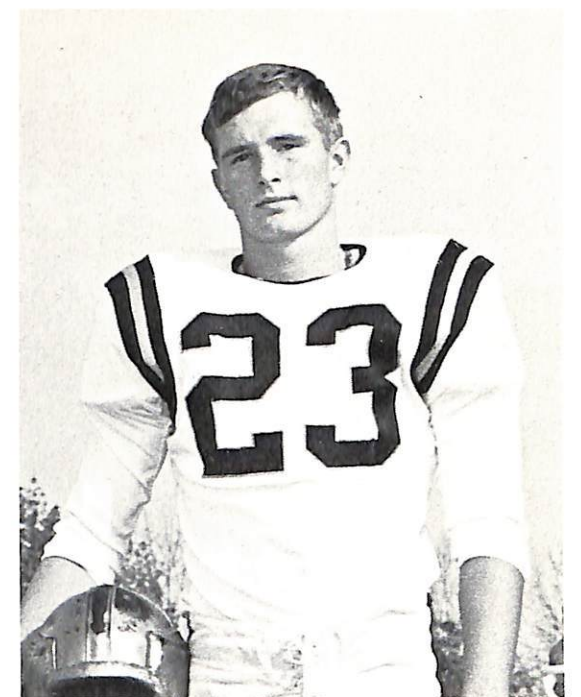

Outstanding efforts of the team members were recognized when co-captains Jim Krause and Ray Edwards made All-State teams; Ray was selected for All-County and Suburban Conference first teams, Jim Latham and Jim Krause were picked for the Suburban Conference second team. The season culminated with the selection of Tom Urich as Chatham's Most Valuable Player for 1965.

1964 was an exceptional year for C.H.S. in soccer. The team left a trail of glory behind it as the boys kicked their way to the State Group II Co-Championship. They ran away with the Suburban Conference Title with a 13-0-1 record. They wound up as the only undefeated team in the state with an overall record of 14-0-4.

Jim Wilson, Mehmet Arisoy, Rick Biehl, Jim Slade, and Rich Langborgh were selected for the first team Suburban Conference, while Bill Ryan, Mike Thompson, and Ron Bradford made the second team. Rick Biehl was a second team All-State selection and Jim Wilson and Jim Slade received honorable mention.

The M.V.P. was Rick Biehl who contributed 19 goals and 7 assists to the Haasmens' cause.

Mr. Haas passed a milestone in his career as he notched his 200th victory as a soccer coach.

BASKETBALL

The CHS basketball team's record of 2-16 was not indicative of their season's effort. There were many games that saw Chatham tied at the half and threatening in the third and final quarters.

The team's two high scorers were juniors Tim Keeley and Al Twaits. They were assisted by seniors Tom McNeely and Bob Whinn who showed fine hustle and ability throughout the season. Mike Miller, a sophomore with a fine jump shot, promises to be a terrific player next year.

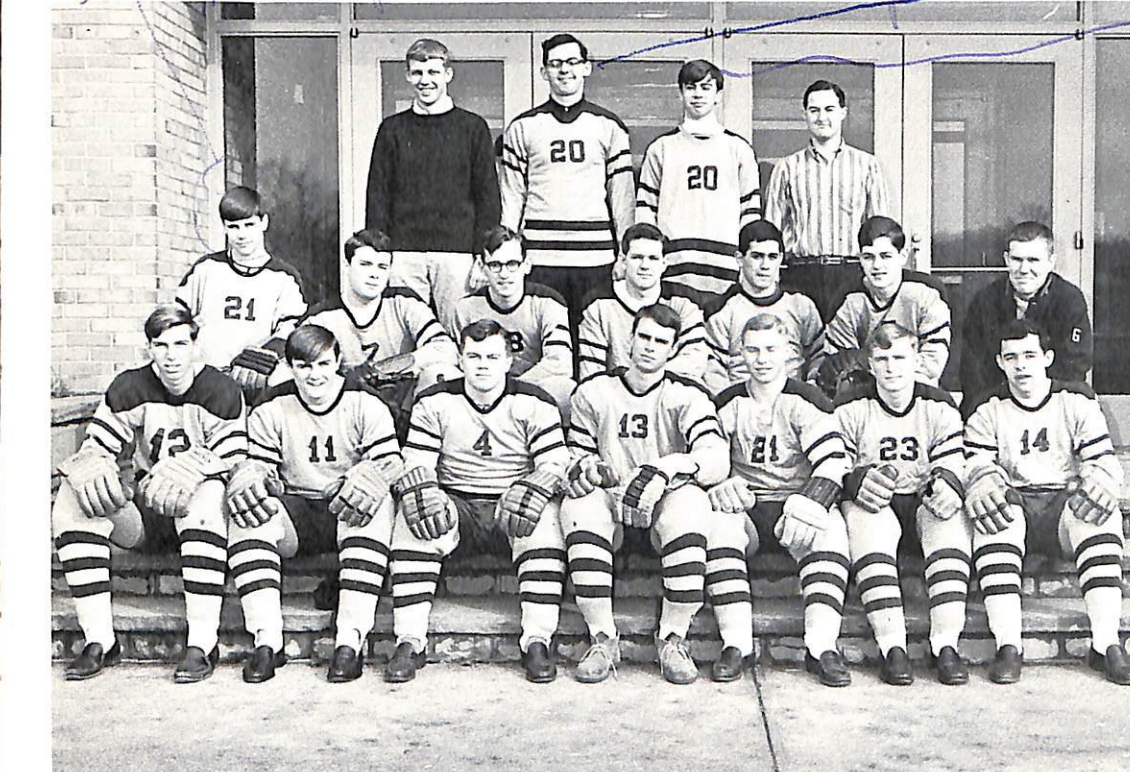

"I guess the only way to stop that guy is to tackle him!"

HOCKEY

Last year's graduation left Coach Trecartin with five returning lettermen around which to build his team. Two of those were Captain "T" Bull and Rick Biehl, perhaps the best in the league at their respective positions of center and goal tender.

Bob Stine, Ray Wenzel, and Tom Urich took on the duties of defensemen. The two forward lines, both centered by Bull, consisted of returnees Tom Conway, John Sullivan, and Jim Wilson, assisted by a new face on the squad, Jack Pierson.

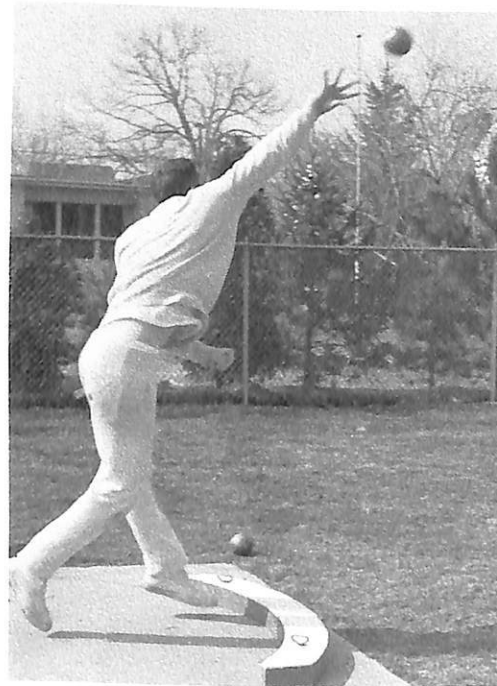

The icemen showed great eagerness and hustle throughout the campaign, and led by "T," who scored 27 of the team's 40 goals, wound up the regular season with a 7-7-2 record, tying the Eskies for fourth place with Montclair in the league standing.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

Pledges to strengthen communications between the Council and the students, to continue the Student Activity Card, and to stimulate school and conference spirit were presented during the 1964-65 Student Council election campaign. President Steve Pfeiffer and the Council have fulfilled these pledges during the 1964-65 school year. Agendas and homeroom discussions have involved many in Council proceedings. The Council promoted the establishment of a student lounge resulting from suggestions from homerooms. The SAC again saved students' money, and a reception committee greeted visitors throughout each day. School spirit received a lift with new football programs, basketball scorecards, revitalized bulletin boards, and inter-school dances.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

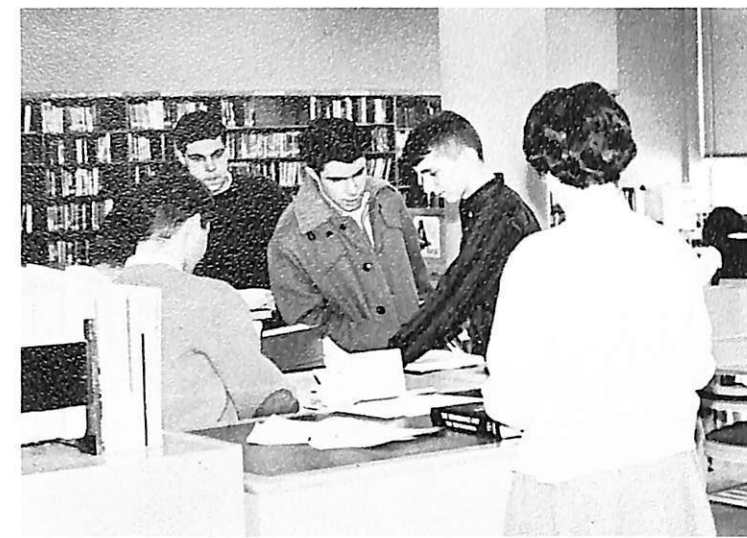

This year, as a result of careful planning and extra effort in years past, the American Field Service was able to welcome two foreign students as members of the Chatham community and as students in Chatham High School. Alia Minaissy, from Egypt, and Mehmet Arisoy, from Turkey, have made the school year more fun and more meaningful for each of us. A return exchange was carried out by Sally Cloninger, who spent the summer before her senior year as an AFS student in the Philippines.

The AFS organization in Chatham High School makes such exchanges possible by the sale of bonds "redeemable in satisfaction" to students and townspeople. The American Field Service program provides great satisfaction and deeper understanding in Chatham's high school and community.

First row: S. Cloninger, P. Ehrhard, D. Jackson, treasurer; D. Cleveland, vice president; R. Barnes, president; N. Strandine, secretary; S. Emler, S. Harrison, C. Taber. Second row: R. Weisel, B. Kanavas, M. Rupp, J. Singer, A. Tousley, B. Reed, S. McDowell, J. Brackbill. Fourth row: B. Kinnaman, S. Henderson, R. Bassett, S. Pfeiffer, K. Kaufman, P. Martens, K. Ahrens, R. Longborgh, T. Fahy, S. Gibson, J. Houseman.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

The Library Council is one of the busiest service organizations in C.H.S. Members of the Council devote their study halls and spare time to insuring the smooth and efficient operation of the library. Their many jobs include preparing books for circulation, keeping the shelves in order, and helping students discover new ways to use the library. An annual Book Week Faculty Tea is sponsored by the Council to acquaint teachers with the latest arrivals in books. Students and faculty alike appreciate the time and efforts of the Council in furthering its areas of service to the school.

"Now, just watch me stamp this February 29."

"Aw, it's just like playing the piano."

HONOR SOCIETY

Members of the National Honor Society are chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Chatham High School Honor Society members assist at Back-to-School-Night by serving as guides for parents. They act as hosts for visiting speakers on three career days. Also, they conduct a tutoring service throughout the year.

This year the Chatham and Summit chapters of the National Honor Society sponsored a banquet for Honor Society members of the Suburban Conference schools. Chatham students provided entertainment on this memorable occasion. It is hoped that this banquet will be continued as a tradition in future years.

"Same to you, fellow!"

"If they don't start serving soon, I'm going to eat my placemat!"

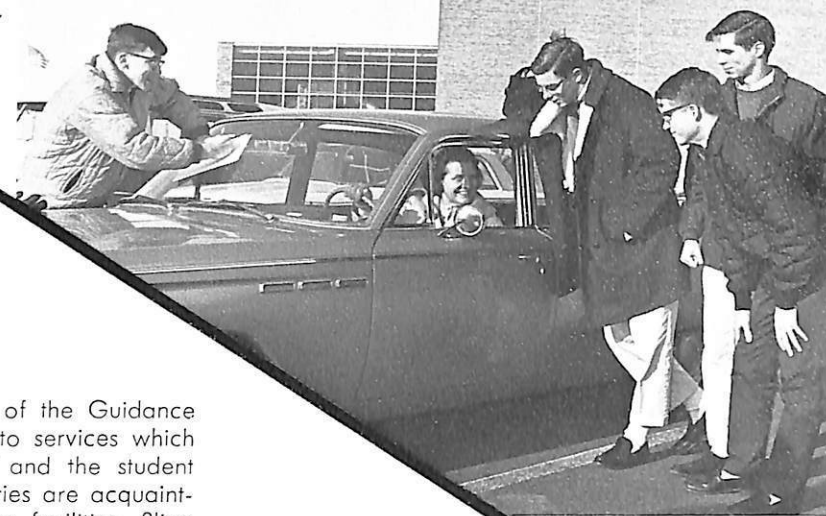

"Now, you just take this pink slip down to the guidance office."

First row: A. Tousley, C. Meserlin, M. Rupp. Second row: S. Burns, S. Woloshyn, S. Cunningham, J. Stevenson, M. Smith, Miss Burdett. Third row: A. Errico, P. Woodruff, C. Marshall, D. White, absent K. Hartelius.

"What fire hydrant?"

GUIDANCE CLUB

Students who are members of the Guidance Club devote their study halls to services which aid both the Guidance Staff and the student body. Among their responsibilities are acquainting students with the guidance facilities, filing guidance data, and serving as guides for new students. A high point of the club's activities this year was hosting the Smith College tea, held at Chatham High School.

First row: F. Prudden, D. Oltuski, J. R. Lett, president; P. Bradley, D. Satz.
Second row: M. Charles, A. Errico.

TRAFFIC BOARD

The Traffic Board, which is composed of eight seniors and four juniors, has the responsibility of enforcing school traffic rules and granting school parking permits. At school functions such as Homecoming and Graduation, the Traffic Board cooperates with the police in order to insure traffic safety. This organization has become an indispensable part of Chatham High School.

In addition to its annual fund drive, the Chatham High chapter of the Red Cross this year sponsored three service projects. The traditional collection of Halloween candy was made, and at Christmas toys for needy children were placed beneath class Christmas trees. Also, members of the Red Cross presented a show for the patients of a local hospital.

"I've got to check; upholstery—clean, floor—swept..."

"But while you're making this pit stop, the kids on the bicycles will win the race!"

STAGE CREW

"Don't think. Just pull the master switch!"

First row: D. Ford, B. Carnahan, Mr. Downey, A. Errico.
Second row: G. Johnson, H. Clymer, D. Ehmman, G. Zeller.

First row: F. Turbett, L. Cunningham, G. Walsh, vice-president, D. Johnson, president, J. Semple, secretary, C. Hall, N. Schneider. Second row: P. Benigno, G. Wind, S. Biehafter, P. Jones, J. Goss, C. Sampson, D. Ferber.

A black and white photograph showing three men in a library or study. One man is seated at a desk, looking at a book or papers. Two other men stand behind him, looking at the same material. The desk is cluttered with books, papers, and a small container.

A black and white photograph of a group of students working on a project. They are gathered around a table, looking at papers and a box. One student is sitting on the floor, writing. The scene is indoors, possibly a classroom or library. In the bottom right corner, there is handwritten text: "up to a class, stations, a design, when".

No wonder it kept flying off! They forgot to take the ostrich out!

"Don't say a word—I've got a gun at your back."

"Is that the way?"

"We have a legal problem for you."

"Every time we go to rehearse, Steve dozes off."

"People, people—try that scene again. Someone wasn't paying attention."

"... sort of little gifties, you might say!"

Junior Chosen To Be AFSer

Emily Sagan, a present member of the junior class, could be C.H.S.'s next foreign exchange student. Mrs. Clarke, the faculty advisor to the AFS "hopes, of course, that Emily will be able to go abroad this summer."

Alla, our exchange student from Egypt, was asked how going abroad might affect Emily. She responded, "Emily will learn to be very independent and find herself alone at many moments."

Council Campaign Commences; Elections Will Be Thursday

Eleven sophomores and juniors have begun campaigning for student council posts this week, April 26. Each candidate for the four offices will be using various ways and means, within a certain sum of money, to capture the vote of the average student-in-the-hall.

Running for the office of President are Ralph Lauterwasser, a sophomore and Jim Slade, a junior. Four junior girls, Julie Rice, Sharon Thompson, Judy Wiley and Kathy Willmot, are running for Secretary. David Anderson, a sophomore, Pete Steffens, a junior and Ben Toussley, a sophomore are running for students to run in this election and some of their qualifications. Bill Bolger—feels he can best contribute his ideas on school affairs as President. . . . was Student Council President in 9th grade, class President in sophomore year, presently Treasurer of the Student Council.

Dear Deborah,
 I don't know how to sign this because if I started in with remember this, remember that I could write a 10 volume set of books. I'm just going to put down a few things that pop into my head - Chris + Brian, changing at Seaside, the World's Fair, roller skating episode with C.O.O., the shore, the shore, "Come on baby" at Ellen's, fix + you. You Goldfinger, all your problems, Bond's, all the times you saw fix + you. You and all the good, hearty laughs we had. We should also remember all are stupid picquions (or however you spell it) arguments
 I'm sorry about all the times I hope you were always good friends!
 you were always so nice. I hope we're always good friends!
 I'll need your help. Best of luck in everything. You're going to go a long, long way. Let's really have a blast this summer. O.K.!! See ya around!
 your friend,
 Linda
